

Who Will You Invite to the Table - Ken DeCook

Icebreaker:

1. What is your favorite bird?
2. What small thing would improve your day today?

Summary:

In this four-week series, The Table becomes a symbol of how God invites us into a deep relationship with Him and with one another. Through biblical imagery and everyday application, we'll explore how God designed us for connection, how Jesus modeled communion at the Last Supper, and how our own tables—literal and figurative—can become sacred spaces of grace, welcome, and transformation. Each week builds a vision of community rooted in God's very nature.

Engage the Bible:

- Luke 14:12-14

Small Group Questions:

- What stood out to you most from the message this week?
- God wants to be in relationship with each of us, right where we are. How are you in relationship with the people God has placed in your life?
- Sitting with God and with others in real, vulnerable community transforms us. How does this look for you?
- Be inspired to extend the Table—to create space for others in their everyday lives, reflecting God's heart through radical welcome. How are you currently doing this? How could you improve?
